With Dancing Maldens. Gladiators, Races Processions.

After achieving the greatest possible riumphs known to Europe, receiving the plaudits of 30,000 people daily, the enthunastic and unqualified approval of the entire Royal Family of Great Britain, in-cluding Princes, Dukes, Earls, Lords, Barons and their families, the united indorsement of the English press, and after most daring and successful journey across and back over the Atlantic ocean. the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will make its appearance here on Saturday, June 7th, to cause equally as much delight, wonder and astonishment as it created abroad. The marvelous array of novel features to be exhibited this year, are of such a grand and coetly character as to excite in all visitors a feeling of wonder and amazement. Besides the best circus ever seen, including all the best riders in both countries, per ant the best riders in both countries, per-forming in three rings and upon two ele-vated stages, there is the Olympia Hippo-drome, Menagerie filled with the rurset of wild beasts, a great Horse fair with 400 horses in a separate tent, elephant pavilions, marvelously trained animals, and other novel attractions. Besides all these there is the most extensive and gorgeons spectacle the world ever gazed npon, requiring more than 1200 actors dancing girls, gladiators, vestal virgins, Roman lictors and others, the costume and scenery for which has cost a sum and scenery for which has cost a sum equal to a dozen fortunes. In Imre Krasify's "Nero, or the Destruction of Rome," the visitor sees simply the greatest production of the age. The mind is dazed by an incessant display of the most marvelous feats of every possible description. It is a superb seems spectacle, panoramically perfect in all its highly artististic attributes of archicological detail, so cumningly and grandly placed before the eye of the beholder as verily to fore the eve of the beholder as verily to carry his thoughts back to the days of the dawn of Christianity, when the zephyrs of the sweet breezes of peace were wafted o'er the plains of barbarism and bloodshed. Nero's triumphal pro-cession, the festal dances, the vision of Rome by mountieft the dadactoried an Rome by moonlight, the gladiatorial encounters, the Olympian games, the mag-nificent bailet, with the constant kaleic oscopic color variations, the final burning of the city, are verily triumphs of artis and a series of tableaux vivants, such as has never before been witnessed. It is indeed the Greatest Show on Earth.

Says the Springfield News: "Farmers are getting along about as well as other people. They are in debt, so are manufacturers, merchants and professional men. They have been forced to sell their product at low prices, but they buy at lower prices than ever before almost everything they use. In 1880 the selfbinding harvester sold for $315 says the Fort Dodge Messenger, and in that state in this year, 1890, that harvester sells for $130. Seeders, it says, which were $35 in 1880, are sold for $13 in 1890. Pumps which sold at $15 in 1880 sell at $6 in 1890. Barb wire in 1880 was 10 cents a 1830. Barb wire in 1830 was 10 cents a pound; it now sells at 4 cents a pound. Iron chains were 22 cents per pound in 1880, and sell for 12 cents per pound this year. And so the Messenger goes on for nearly a column, showing that, while farmers are not getting rich, they do get along just about as well as anybody eise. The real trouble is, while prices of what they sell and bny have shruhk, the mortgage has not shrunk and the interest has gage has not shrunk and the interest has not shrunk. Hence the farmer, like all other men in business, wants an inflation of real money. The best interest of all classes, except men with fixed incomes, and money sharks, requires at least twice as much money per capita as we now have. Give us silver coinage free and farming will pay. Come now, Mr. Congress, give us a trial of free coinage, and t it don't work it will be easy to repeal But if it does work, you will rejoice

THE sub-committee of the committee on elections has practically decided to he no further testimony in the Clayton-Breckenridge contest. This indicates that the committee has sufficient evidence at hand to prove that the assassination of John M. Clayton was a purely withties committed in the interest of the Democratic contestee. If this is the case when taken in connection with the evidences of fraud practiced at the polls in the interest of Breckenridge, Congress should declare the seat of that district vacant.

Forgot an Important Fact. When the Committee on Ways and Means was taking testimony on the con-Itton of our industries with a view of atelligently revising the tariff, a prominent professional farmer, who is in favor of decreasing the duties to a revenue point, presented to that committee a table of farm values from 1870 to 1880 embracing the aix New England states and three of the Middle states. His tables showed that the average value of land per acre in these states was $50.85 in 1870 and $41.24 in 1880. The gentlewas, no doubt, conscientions in the behef that his figures demonstrated the march to rain. But it had not occurred against $41.24 in 1880. When we con older in connection with these facts that the acreage was increased during these years by 5,000,000 acres it shows that farm values in the states named have held their own remarkably well. throw him out of court.

The title of the settlers on 110,000 acres of land on the Des Moines over, now under adjudication in the 1 sted States circuit court for Iows, will willin a few days be settled. The land a valned at $2,000,000, and is part of a proct made by the government years ago to the Dee Moines Navigation and Ran. way Company. The land was not used by that company, as contemplated in the grant, and was settled by squatters who improved farms and made the lands valuable. In 1885 a bill was passed by congrees to give these settlers title to these lands. This bill was vetoed by Cleveland. Those claiming to represent the live Moines River company asked for possersion and the government therenpon attempted to evict the settlers. Persong there evictions the administration changed, and the present sinamstration ordered suit to be brough in the United States circuit court to settle the owner-

Some time ago Judge Shiras, bea whom the cause is being tried, was ked by the settlers for an injunction to cotrain the collection of taxes. The Judge at that time in giving his opinion and refusing the injunction indicated that he believed the title was in the set tlers, and from that it is generally be-∸જ્વા ‰at the court will decide in favor of the farmers.

BRAINS IN MACHINES.

tricate and Delicate Bits of Embroldery,

ed garments, the cloaks and reception gowns, capes, etc., had to be imported rom Paris and Berlin," said Mr. Alex-inder, of the Chicago Braiding company, but they are now all made right here. To show you the difference between then and now it is only necessary to say that the silk embroidery on a lady's jacket done used to cost about $18 to $25, now t is made for $3 A fine embroidered silk robe, such as now can be turned out here for $10 or $50 used to require an outlay of $150 to $200. With that it had to be imported. It could not be made here. ake another line of goods, such as emandered table covers, scarfs, tidles, pillow shams, etc. They're all done by mahincry now All those deheately twisted dowers, those roses and vines and clusters of grapes and pearl blossoms and sunflowers and pansies-they're all wrought into the cloth by machinery. A DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK.

"It is very curious to watch the madines suppresently endowed with more than ordinary human intelligence—at work There are some ten different kinds of machines kept in operation in the (stablishment. The most curious of all is a machine whose special domain is the so called 'applique' work. It performs three tasks at one and the same time. When properly adjusted a tiny knife cuts out, according to the pretty design intended, the figures from the upper layer of cloth, while simultanedon Telegraph. ously the machine sews these figures on to the layer of cloth underneath-the upper layer being generally of medium thickness, while the lower one is cloth of artistic, and the thread runs through the double thickness of cloth, making the work as durable as it is possible to have it. "The effect thus obtained—artistic arabesignes, beautifully curving lines, forming an intricate yet pleasing pattern, lying on the cloth underneath, is very pretty indeed. Generally two cloths of shades differing so much as to form a ine contrast are chosen. The delicate mechanism of this machine is especially noticeable in the cutting out of the upper layer of cloth. For while the whole proess of cutting it and sewing it on tight at the same time is done so quickly under the hands of a skillful operator that a yard of this 'applique' work is made orthin about five minutes, the knife of an meh deeper, or the whole material and the whole work would become a MANY WONDERFUL MECHANISMS.

must be so nicely adjusted that it will cut exactly through the thickness of the upper cloth and not the hundredth part

Wonderfull' said the reporter. "Yes," remarked Mr. Alexander, while gratified smile spread over lifs face, this is the only machine of its kind in the world. I've had it patented, and those in my establishment are the only ones made so far. They don't even have Another machine, which is likewise the product of a very ingenious brain, is he so called "three spool" machine. Two threads of worsted and one thread of silk cording are manipulated by this machina in such a manner as to lay down the worsted on the cloth and to spin the silk right over and all around if. The effect thus produced is that of very thick alk braid, the whole being more lmable than silk throughout, yet much less expansive.

The bending machine, by mains of which those most elegant ornaments on a woman's dress, those glistening arabesques of beading, are put on, is another trinoiph of mechanical genus. The same may be said of the feather edge machine, which does the so called "sunbe am" and "rainbow" work, embroiderit the shades, which are condually oned down; of the cornelly machine, which does the conling and still more so of the soutache machine, which does the simplest and yet one of the most efhetive styles of embroidery.

It is the latter sort of work, what lada's call soutache, of which State street is full on any crowded afternoon. Nearly every wordan, wears it on some piece of garment, on a cape a cloak, on her diesses and even on her underwear. And it is of exactly the kind which, but a cuple of yours back, was very expensree, but which now, thanks to this wonderful piece of mechanism, has come within the reach of all. And as there is a great variety in the style of work done. by these different machines, so there is in the material with which they work. There is silk braid of every imaginable has and thickness, there is colored spool silk of a bundred shades; there is gold thread and silver thread and bronze thread, of which a great deal is especially used for what is known as "arrasened work, i e . embroidered flowers, leaves, mes and fruits on tables and other cov-

A Fact Every day we see playing around the WORTH knowing is that blood diseases which all other remedies fail to cure, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Fresh confirmation of this state-ship and skimming up and down the wave hollows companies of lovely little terns and sea swallows, the latter no larger than thrushes. These fearless people of the air have not by any means followed us from the land, living, a gulls often will, on the waste thrown from the vessel. They are vague and casual roamers of the ocean, who, spy ing the great steamship from afar, have sailed close up to see if we are a rock or an island, and will then skim away again on their own free and boundless Yonder tiny bird, with purple and green plumage, his little breast and neck aced with silver, is distant 1,000 miles at this moment from a drop of fresh water, and yet cares no more for that fact than did the Irish squire who 'lived twelve miles from a lemon." If his wings ever grow weary it is but to settle quietly on the bosom of a great billow and suffer it for a time to rock and roll him amid the hissing spindrift, the milky, flying foam and the broken ea tace, which forms and gleams and disappears again upon the dark slopes.

When he pleases a stroke of the small red foot and a beat of the wonderful wing launch him off from the jagged edge of his billow, and he flits past us at 100 knots an hour, laughing steam and canvas to scorn, and steering for some nameless orag in Labrador or Fundy, or bound, it may be, homeward for some sland or marsh of the far away Irish

Marvelously expressive of power as is our untiring engine, which all day and all night throbs and pants and pulses in noisy rhythm under the deck, what a clumsy, imperiect affair it is compared to the dainty plumes and delicate muscles which will that pretty, fear-less sea swallow to his roost.—Lon-

Treasures on Board Ships In 1769 a ship of war from Rio to Lisbon had on board 9,000,000 crusades in the thickest, warmest and most expensive kind, such as is suitable for a lady's diamonds and about 100,000 "crowns turnois" in piasters, making in the whole winter cloak. The stitch is pretty and 29,050,000 livres tournois. So much for a single ship. In 1774 two Spanish ships from Vera Cruz and Havana arrived with 22,000,000 crowns, besides merchandise valued at 27,000,000. Such examples could be multiplied.

Of the cargo of an English Indiaman in 1771, one item alone—a diamond in the rough—was valued at £100,000, "going to be manufactured in England on account of one of the Asiatic nabobs; and on the private freight of this vesse the policies of insurance were opened at Lloyd's at a high premium, so costly were her contents and so doubtful her safe arrival. As a costly shipwreck La Lutine deserves notice. She was of thirty-two guns, commanded by Capt. Skynner, and went ashore on the bank of the Fly Island passage, on the night of Oct. 9, 1799. At first she was reputed to have had £600,000 in specie on board. This was afterwards contradicted by a statement that the whole amounted to about £140,000.—Sydney Herald.
